MEET TWO FORMER CHAMPS

LEFT TO RIGHT: WILLIE RICHIE AND JIMMIE BRITT

Some people have the impression that Willie Ritchie and Jimmie Britt are no longer fighters. They are now highly respected and mighty well-to-do citizens of San Francisco. Recently they appeared in a circus staged for the benefit of the San Francisco Community Service. Britt, who has been a success on the stage, played the role of a clown. Ritchie, who has been a success in the ring, played the role of a boxer.

AS THE FAN WOULD HAVE PENNED IT

"When my dreams come true—when my dreams come true, I shall lean out from my casement in the starlight and the dew."

When my dreams come true—when my dreams come true, I shall sit among the footers and with nothing else to do.

Every day a double-header and an extra inning fight.

That will take us from the noontide to the portals of the night.

That shall leave us happy, hearted when the frolicking is through.

With the enemy beneath us when my dreams come true.

When my dreams come true we shall never lose a game.

But shall only win the pennant by a battle just the same.

And when the fight is hottest and we clamor for a hit.

The shortstop or the catcher shall arise and wallop it.

A spot upon the sunlight or a blot against the blue.

But they'll never find the pellet when my dreams come true.

When my dreams come true, oh, the lobster back of me.

Shall never smash by bonnet in a fit of frenzied glee.

The peanuts that I gobble and the liquid that I drink.

Shall never put my stomach or digestion on the blink.

And in the crowded street car when the merry day is through.

But they'll never find the pellet when my dreams come true.

When my dreams come true they shall let me wear a gun.

Or when a fielder fumbles or the pitcher's in the air.

I shall get some target practice from the bleachers then and there.

And the mutt that flays the ozone when I think a hit is due.

Had better own a coffin when my dreams come true.

"I see where Tolley played a 423-yard hole with a drive and three putts," writes L. H. L. "That's nothing. I once played a 423-yard hole with a drive and three niblick shots, holing my last one."

We know of one man who played a 400-yard hole in two strokes, with a hooked drive and a second out of bounds. How? The out of bounds struck a telegraph pole, bounded back over the green and then trickled into the cup. Sooner or later anything can happen in golf, from a miracle to a fit.

COBB'S SUCCESSOR

We once thought that George Sisler, the Bluebonnet of the Browns, had been handed the keys as Ty Cobb's successor in the American League.

Now Harry Heilmann steps in to challenge Sisler's right to the throne. Heilmann, a big, powerful snipe, who is six feet tall with a weight of 205 pounds, is a right leaver, left fall and is again hammering the cover off the ball.

He wasn't as brilliant as Sisler up to 1921, but since then he has found himself.

GOLFERS OPEN 1922 SEASON

Dinner-Dance Featured at Close of Play on Initial Day

*Old Jupiter Pluvius put a crimp in the 1922 opening of the Ogden Golf and Country club Saturday, the rain, storm and lowering clouds keeping many Ogdenites away from the links.

Despite this fact, more than 100 engaged in the opening contests, officers of the club said last night.

At the conclusion of the play dinner was served in the dining room. A dance followed.

The final games in the "blind bogey" will be played on the green at the club today.

The membership drive instituted by the members of the club some weeks ago is meeting with success, it is said.

Dempsey Makes Farewell Speech to Paris Crowd

PARIS, April 29.—(By The Associated Press.) Jack Dempsey bade farewell to Paris today. A throng of French and American admirers accompanied him to the station and gave him a noisy send-off as he boarded a train for Berlin.

He acknowledged the demonstration in a brief speech from the platform in which he said:

"I have enjoyed every minute of my stay, and I shall not soon forget all your kindness and attention. I am leaving your country with a heart full of gratitude for your royal reception and wonderful hospitality. You have made me feel like one of the family, and I am leaving France with as much regret as though it were my own country."

Just before his departure, Dempsey said:

"Georges Carpentier told me after our fight in Jersey City last July that if I ever visited France I would never regret it. He was right. If I meet Georges in the ring again, as is most likely, I will have to carry into the arena a more truly friendly feeling than I have ever felt for any opponent."

"Nothing was left undone by the French to make my visit to Paris worth while. The Americans living here have also been fine to me, and all French newspapers have been wonderful. I only hope the French people liked me half as much as I liked them."

YALE SCORES VICTORY

NEW HAVEN, Conn., April 29.—Yale defeated the University of Pennsylvania baseball team here today, 8 to 3.

FATHER VICTOR OVER SON

Frank McAlpin and George McAlpin.

Youth will be served, usually holds goods in all forms of athletic competition.

The dope, however, was completely upset at Boston the other day. Father and son took part in a 10-mile open-air road race in the outskirts of Boston and father came in ahead of son.

George McAlpin is the father who upset the theory that youth must be served.

(Special Dispatch) SALT LAKE, April 29.—University of Utah track and field performers defeated the Utah Aggies in a dual meet at Cummings field here today, 69 to 53. In both events Hart won with ease. Smith of Utah led the sprinters to the tape in the century while Jewkes of Utah won the furlong.

BALL TRAINER ACTS AS JACK OF ALL TRADES

Ball clubs, with millions of dollars invested in the bodies of men, have taken precaution to protect this investment in human flesh.

Colleges and universities, even high schools, whose athletic performers cost nothing, spend a great deal of money each year, fortunes in fact, protecting them.

Baseball has its trainers, but there is probably not a trainer in the entire game that has even a slight medical education. What trainers in baseball know about the human body is scraps of knowledge picked up here and there, scraps that often prove disastrous.

There is no position in baseball more badly misnamed than the trainer's. Here is what the trainer of a major league club does:

Checks the trunks, carrying uniforms and also the private wardrobe trunks of the players.

Sees that hand luggage is delivered to the rooms of the players.

Provides drinking water for the players' bench.

Gathers up shoes, socks, shirts, pants and sweaters in the clubhouse after the players' unceremonious throw them about when through with the workout, and carefully places them in the lockers of the respective owners.

Provides soap, towels and sees that the showers have plenty of hot water.

Acts as rubber whenever any member of the team shows up with a sore muscle or imagines he has one.

Mends uniforms and sees that spiked shoes are cleaned and oiled after each workout.

Runs errands to shoe repairing shops and tailor shops.

Acts as valet for the players.

Always has a supply of chewing gum and chewing tobacco, cigars and lighters, articles demanded by the player during or after a workout, the former during and the latter after.

Does various other little errands such as mailing letters, carrying messages, starting the fire in the clubhouse stove, etc.

When one mentions a trainer in connection with baseball few persons would suspect the man holding the position doing such an amount of work and just that kind of work.

The college trainer is in command of the situation in athletics. He is responsible for the physical welfare of the athletes. He tells them when they shall go to bed and when they shall get up, when they can play and when they cannot play. His word is law over that of the coach.

But in baseball, with millions depending upon the physical welfare of the men playing the game, the trainer becomes merely a Gunga Din of Ballroom.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., April 29.—Johnny Wilson, middleweight pugilist champion, will meet Mike Gibbons of St. Paul, Minn., in 10-round decision contest here May 26, it was announced late tonight.

EXPECT MANY NEW RECORDS IN BIG MEET

State High Schoolers to Battle for Track Rag May 11-12

Interscholastic track and field marks will be the target for the athletes who enter the state tournament at Salt Lake, May 11 and 12. More than 300 athletes from every nook and corner of the state will be entered in the contests.

Two men in the state are certain to shatter state records when the finals are staged.

Alex Hoggan, present holder of the half-mile record, is expected to trot over the 330 in 2 minutes flat. This season, his mark at this time being 2 minutes 2 seconds. The West High school star is also expected to shatter the mile mark of a minutes 37 4-5 seconds held by Bunk Brown of the B. U. H. High school of Provo.

OGDEN MAN SHINES. Carman of West High and Crandall of Springville loom as possible record breakers in the 440-yard dash. Crandall covered this distance in 53 seconds a few days ago and with training should be able to shatter the mark of 52 5-8 seconds made last season by Wells of Dixie.

Gox of Ogden is looked to shatter the state records in the shot, discus and javelin events. This youngster is the marvel of the year in the weight classics and unless he takes a decided backset he should be able to cover himself with glory.

Although these men loom as the big stars in the state at this time, dark horses may enter the field and carry off the honors.

Secretary C. Oren Wilson of the Utah High School Athletic association said last night that officials for the state meet would be named during the early part of the week. Each event will be run off on schedule and from every indication the classic should be greater than ever before.

O'Hara Upsets Golf Dope

PAT O'HARA

Pat O'Hara, the professional of the Richmond Country club of Staten Island, N. Y., sprang something of a golfing sensation at the recent north and south open championship at Pinehurst, N. C., by winning the title from every classy field.

O'Hara had turned in a 60 for his second 18 holes. Shortly after completing his rounds a terrific rain storm set in, preventing a number of other players from finishing their round. It was decided to throw all scores made in the second 18 holes into the discard.

Had the scores made in the second round stood O'Hara would have won a 239 for 72 holes.

In winning the north and south title O'Hara turned back a great field, including such cracks as Jim Barnes, Jack Hutchinson, Walter Haged, Mike Brady and Joe Kirkwood.
